

Graduate Certificate in English Dual Credit Preparation

The University of Akron's Graduate Certificate in English Dual Credit Preparation offers a cohesive set of coursework for high school English teachers who wish to meet the credentialing standard for dual-credit instructors in the state of Ohio. Our online Certificate forms a foundation for the teaching of general education courses in both Composition and Literature, providing 18 hours of coursework in the discipline for those teachers who already have or are working toward-42. T0 Tc 0 Tv

Course Listings

The University of Akron Graduate Certificate in English Dual Credit Preparation

Literature Courses

ENG 615: Shakespearean Drama

ENG 615: Shakespearean Drama introduces high school teachers to recent approaches to Shakespeare as taught on college campuses. The purpose of this online course is to help teachers expand their familiarity with Shakespeare and interpretive methods applied to plays represented in college literature courses. It has the same writing and research requirements as the face-to-face version of ENG 615, and is open only to high school teachers.

ENG 629: Twentieth Century Literature

ENG 629: Twentieth Century Literature introduces high school teachers to recent approaches to Twentieth Century literature as taught on college campuses. The purpose of this online course is to help teachers expand their familiarity with Twentieth Century literature and interpretive methods applied to plays represented in college literature courses. It has the same writing and research requirements as the face-to-face version of ENG 629, and is open only to high school teachers.